
THE SPOUT SPRING TIMES.

VOL. 1.

SPOUTSPRING, KY., AUGUST 29, 1896.

NO. 32.

The merchants of Paducah have petitioned the pastors of the various churches in the city to preach a special sermon calling upon all the church members to pay their honest debts.

COURT DAY

About 150 cattle were on the market. The demand was brisk and about all were sold. Several lots of 1,000 lb. feeders brought $3\frac{1}{2}$ cts.; two other lots of yearlings, weight 800 lbs., sold at $3\frac{1}{4}$ cts.; heifers of same weight, $2\frac{1}{2}$ to $2\frac{3}{4}$ cts., and a few extra ones went at \$2.90. A number of 1,200 lb. bulls sold for $2\frac{1}{4}$ to $2\frac{1}{2}$ cts.; common milch cows, \$20 to \$30; 500 good mountain ewes sold in lots at \$2.25 to \$2.50 each; a few lots of hogs brought $3\frac{1}{4}$ cts.—Winchester Democrat.

George Durbin, of Madison county, who has been wanted in this county for some time for malicious shooting, was arrested last Tuesday at High Bridge and brought to Irvine.

A Kansas boy who saved the pictures from 1,200 packages of cigarettes that he had smoked, sent them to the manufacturer and asked what they would give for them. The answer was as follows: "Smoke as many more and we'll send you a coffin."

All persons indebted to me are kindly asked to come forth and settle as we are needing the use of the money. J. E. Burgher, Jr.

A young man of Rockford, Ill., recently sang in the presence of a young woman the song, "Oh Promise Me." She has now brought suit for breach of promise of marriage, on the ground that it was a proposal.

A street fakir gave a free show in Clinton, Ky., one day not long ago. The following description is given of him: "Our three doctors tried him a round. Dr. Medaris drove a long pin through his arm, Dr. Hall stuck a ladies hat pin through the same arm, scraping the bone and coming out on the other side. The fakir never flinched and when the instruments were withdrawn no blood flowed, nor was any wound apparent. He poured benzine over his head, put fire to it and ate it burning, blowing flames from his mouth. He drank gasoline and set fire to his mouth blowing flames like a gas jet. He smoked a cigar through a hollow instrument stuck through the flesh of his jaw and performed most of his feats with about a paper of pins stuck into the flesh of his jaw, cheek, face and neck. He wound up by allowing a live rattlesnake, with real fangs, bite his arm. The snake bit so deep into his arm, that in pulling it loose one of its fangs was broken off and left in the wound. Dr. Clear extracted the broken fang with a pocket knife. The wound swelled and showed green from poison, but the man walked off to his supper, apparently well and sound. He's a devil."
